

Rev. Malachia Brantley, Jr., D.Min

Malachia Brantley, Jr. is a native of Newark, New Jersey. Malachia is a graduate of Virginia Union University with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration with a minor in Economics. In addition, he has certificates from the Amos Tuck School of Business of Dartmouth University and Blanton Peale Institute in Pastoral Care and Counseling. Malachia earned his Doctor of Ministry from New York Theological Seminary, and his dissertation: Reducing Recidivism among Metro-Newark Youth. In completing four units of Clinical Pastoral Education Malachia has certifications from: Association of Professional Chaplains, the College of Pastoral Supervision and Psychotherapy and American Correctional Chaplains Association. Presently, Dr. Brantley is the Senior Pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church and Supervisor of Religious Services at Northern State Prison Newark, New Jersey.