

Neil Volz has more than 25 years of experience working as a public servant and community advocate. He is currently the Deputy Director of the Florida Rights Restoration Coalition.

His previous work includes being the Chief of Staff for a Member of Congress and the Staff Director for a full Congressional Committee, as well as the Outreach Director for one of the fastest growing Churches in the country and as the Program Director for a leading Non-Profit Organization that serves formerly homeless veterans. Additionally, his career includes working as an entrepreneur, leading numerous social and media campaigns and successfully representing clients at two top 100 law firms.

While in Washington, Volz helped negotiate and secure passage for the Help America Vote Act, which has improved voting accessibility and accuracy for millions of people. He is the past President of the Board of Directors for Be the Light, an anti-human trafficking organization, and also serves as the former Chairman of the Lee County Homesless Coalition. He also served on the board for the Freedom and Virtue Institute and Habitat for Humanity of Lee, Hendry and Glades County. Volz currently volunteers for a leading homeless services and drug and alcohol addiction ministry program in Southwest Florida. He is a former guest lecturer at the U.S. Naval Academy and was named a "Top Hired Gun" in The Hill Newspaper's annual list of top lobbyists and named to Roll Call Newspaper's List of "50 Most Powerful Capitol Hill Staffers" numerous times during his career on Capitol Hill.

Volz received his Bachelor of Sciences degree from The Ohio State University. He currently lives in Fort Myers, Florida, with his wife, Pam.
